Update on the adoption of IFRS 17 – Insurance Contracts

The interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared using International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) 4 – Insurance Contracts. However, our insurance subsidiary, Guardian Holdings Limited, adopted IFRS 17 – Insurance Contracts effective January 1, 2023. IFRS 17 will materially change the recognition and measurement of insurance contracts and the corresponding presentation and disclosures mainly in the Life, Health and Pension (LHP) segment. The Group, however, will adopt IFRS 17 at the start of the next financial year, on October 1, 2023, as the standard is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2023.

Group Performance

Operating income of $61.2 billion declined from the prior half-year performance of $69.3 billion, representing a $8.1 billion or 12% reduction. The performance was mainly impacted by events in our LHP insurance segment, in particular the effects of a one-off actuarial adjustment in the first three months of the financial year.

When compared to the prior year, the reduced revenues resulted in a fall in profitability, which adversely impacted certain of our key performance indicators. Return on assets (ROA) and return on equity (ROE) (annualised) declined to 0.60% down from 1.54% and 5.19% down from 13.13%, respectively. The rolling twelve-month ROA and ROE were 1.48% and 12.69%, respectively. The reduction in revenues also impacted the cost to income ratio, which increased to 79.72% up from 72.21% in the prior year. Despite the increase in the ratio we continue our cost management efforts.

Banking and Investment Activities

Net revenues from banking and investment activities of $53.5 billion marginally increased by $98 million over the prior year's result of $53.4 billion. There was a 6% or $2.0 billion rise in net interest income coupled with a 6% or $785 million increase in net fee and commission income resulting from the growth in our loans and investments portfolios and increased transaction volumes. These increases were partially offset by higher credit impairment provisions; the prior year included reversals of provisions due to the improved economic outlook following the re-opening of the economy. There was also a reduction in foreign exchange and investment activities due to lower gains from the sale of debt securities stemming from higher interest rates, which resulted in subdued trading gains in our wealth and asset management segment.

Insurance Activities

The net revenues from insurance activities totalled $7.7 billion, a 52% or $8.2 billion decline from the prior year. The segment recorded a decline in premium income as well as increased net insurance costs and higher commission and selling expenses due to sales activities. Increased reserve movements, particularly health claim expenses, during the current period resulted in a decline in our LHP segment primarily due to the resumption of elective procedures previously postponed due to the pandemic. There was also a reduction in reinsurance claim benefits owing to a large general insurance claim in the prior year which was reinsured resulting in a higher reinsurer's share of the claim (claim recovery) in the prior year compared to the current period.

Operating Expenses

Operating expenses totalled $51.4 billion, decreasing by $342 million or 1% from the prior year. We are pursuing various cost optimisation measures as we combat the effects of the inflationary pressures and margin compression due to increased interest rates. These initiatives resulted in the booking of lower professional and consultancy charges.

Consolidated Statement of Financial Position

Total assets at March 2023 was $2.14 trillion, an increase of 4% or $76.1 billion over the prior year. The growth in the asset base was primarily due to increased loans and investment securities. The growth was mainly funded by increased obligations under securitisation arrangements, other borrowed funds, deposits, and amounts due to banks.

Investment Securities and Reverse Repurchase Agreements

Investment securities, including pledged assets and reverse repurchase agreements, totalled just over $1.0 trillion, an increase of 7% or $65.7 billion over the prior year. This continues to be the Group's largest earning asset portfolio.

Loans and Advances

The Group's loans and advances, net of credit impairment losses, totalled $596.0 billion, an increase of 7% or $40.1 billion over the prior year. Non-performing loans totalled $24.6 billion as at March 31, 2023, declining by $6.5 billion or 21% from the prior year. The reduction in non-performing loans led to an improvement in our non-performing loan ratio, decreasing to 4.1%, from 5.5% in the prior year.

Deposits

Banking customers' continued confidence in the Group is demonstrated by a 1% or $7.9 billion increase in deposits, to $714.5 billion, which is our main source of funding.

Policyholders' Liabilities

Liabilities under annuity and insurance contracts decreased to $444.3 billion, down 4% or $16.9 billion from the prior year.

Capital and Liquidity

Equity attributable to stockholders of the parent totalled $176.3 billion, an increase of $19.7 billion or 13% over the prior year, improving due to retained earnings.

All our regulated entities continue to meet the applicable capital and liquidity regulatory requirements.

Dividends

The Board of Directors, at its meeting on May 11, 2023, decided not to pay an interim dividend.

Environment, Social and Governance (ESG)

As we develop a comprehensive ESG framework, we are taking steps to ensure that our current activities and future business strategies are aligned with our objectives of:

- Engaging in responsible business practices;
- Displaying environmental consciousness; and
- Facilitating social development.

We have embarked on various projects aimed at reducing our carbon footprint in a move to integrate environmental awareness into our organisational culture. These include:

- Expanding our use of renewable energy sources as we deploy solar technologies in selected locations;
- Deploying more energy efficiency devices across the Group; and
- Examining available options for including more energy efficient vehicles within our fleet.

Our product development efforts and activities are also being aligned with our ESG objectives. For example, products and related policies within our banking segment are being updated to facilitate easier access to funding for energy efficiency systems and electric/hybrid motor vehicles for both the business and consumer customer segments.

We remain steadfast in our commitment to empowering people, unlocking dreams and building communities. Through our Foundations, we continue to dedicate funding for various initiatives aimed at improving the well-being of individuals in the communities we serve and the wider society. Of note, we have made significant strides in enhancing the sensitivity of our team to the challenges facing the disabled community. Our objective is to promote inclusivity and equality in the treatment of all groups and communities, and so this important initiative launched in the financial year represents a symbolic step as we embark on more activities aligned with our ESG agenda.

We remain committed to building a world class financial ecosystem, delivering exceptional value to our customers, employees and communities and will do so with due consideration to our core values and the environment. Alignment of our strategies will therefore be crucial as we forge a path towards Empowering People | Unlocking Dreams | Building Communities.

4. Macro-environment update

While more recent data indicates that global growth surpassed initial estimates in 2022, given the prevailing economic and geopolitical uncertainties, growth is projected to slow in 2023. New IMF estimates show that the global economy expanded by 3.4% in 2022. However, global economic activity is forecast to slow to 2.8% and 3.0% for 2023 and 2024^[1], respectively. With the ongoing effects of high inflation and elevated commodity prices, global central banks' continued tightening of monetary policy to tame inflation, has increased the risks to the growth trajectory. Furthermore, the uncertainty plaguing the US banking system is adding fresh risks, which may tighten financial conditions more than originally projected. This downturn in economic activity is also expected to be felt in the Latin America and Caribbean region, which is expected to expand by 1.6% in 2023 down from an initial projection of 1.8% in January (4.0% in 2022).

Our operating territories are still expected to grow in 2023, though some projections have been revised downwards. Guyana, our newest operating territory, is expected to lead with robust growth of 37.2% in 2023 on the back of its burgeoning oil industry. While growth projections for Bermuda and the Cayman Islands are largely unchanged, Barbados is expected to see a faster pace of growth relative to the update^[2] in our first quarter release. Buoyed by robust recoveries in tourism and stellar 2023 winter seasons, the economies of Barbados (4.9%), Trinidad and Tobago (3.2%), Bermuda (2.81%), Jamaica (2.2%) and Cayman (1.03%)^[3] will continue to expand this year. Tourism is set to continue benefitting from a rebound in demand and robust 2023 winter season, with international tourist arrivals expected to reach 80% to 95% of pre-pandemic levels this year. This is expected to have spillover effects on other sectors, supporting the recovery. However, the biggest driver of the forecasted expansion in Trinidad & Tobago and Guyana is elevated gas and oil prices. Although energy prices are expected to soften this year owing to weaker economic conditions, they are expected to remain elevated, which will incentivise energy production and drive growth. Freshly announced production cuts by the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries Plus (OPEC+) will bolster prices. While OPEC+ decision to cut production by 1 million barrels per day starting May 1, will add to inflationary pressures and create headwind for most markets, the development augurs well for export growth particularly for Guyana. The Non-energy sector in these two territories is also expected to benefit from increased business activity due to spillover effects from the energy sector and recovery of consumer demand. Jamaica's growth rate on the other hand is projected to be lower at 2.2% relative to our previous projection of 2.9%.

^[1] In its previous World Economic Outlook (October 2022), global growth was initially projected at 2.9% for 2023 and 3.1% for 2024

^[2] In our Q1 update, Barbados and Trinidad and Tobago were previously projected to grow by 2.4% and 1.9%, respectively.

4. Macro-environment update (continued)

However, there are risks to the forecasts. Recession concerns have risen, even as worries about stubbornly high inflation persist. There is also a risk that the recent banking system turbulence in the US could result in a sharper and more persistent tightening of global financial conditions, which would contribute to a further deterioration in business and consumer confidence. An escalation of geopolitical tensions could adversely impact the economic performance of our operating markets and by extension business activity. The softening in global natural prices is also a risk for the Trinidad & Tobago economy.

Despite the risks, our operating territories are expected to experience growth this year, with continued recovery in key sectors. Given higher interest rates, the banking sector is expected to benefit from higher net interest income and fees and commissions. However, loan demand may soften further if economic conditions deteriorate more than we expect. The elevated interest rate environment should reduce life insurers' assets and liabilities, but the net effect is expected to be positive as the impact on the value of liabilities is expected to be greater. With interest rates still elevated trading gains could remain below historical highs for securities dealers and the primary debt market should remain subdued. However, the demand for new alternative investments and structured products should drive fee and commission income. For the second half of the financial year the Group will continue to take advantage of emerging opportunities, while trying to mitigate the existing and emerging risks.
